Angry Jelly Donut
watches TV.

They used to like the show. Now they do not.

They still watch it.

The show ends.

Angry Jelly Donut is going to press start to watch the next show.

Their phone buzzes.

Angry Jelly Donut has a text from Happy Vanilla Cupcake.

Angry Jelly Donut sighs.

Angry Jelly Donut does
not really like Happy Vanilla Cupcake.

The text from Happy Vanilla Cupcake says:

Hi friend.

I am starting a podcast about frosting. I think you will like it.

Angry Jelly Donut
knows they will not
like it.

They do not respond.

They roll their eyes.

Two weeks later, Angry Jelly Donut sees Happy Vanilla Cupcake at the bus stop.

Happy Vanilla Cupcake is wearing their mask wrong.

BUS STOP

“Did you listen to my podcast?” Happy Vanilla Cupcake asks.

“I talk about the difference between frosting and icing.”

“There is no difference between frosting and
icing,” Angry Jelly Donut says.

They look down the road to see if the bus is coming.

“You should listen to the podcast. It’s a lot of fun.”

Happy Vanilla Cupcake
is smiling.

“OK, I will.”

Angry Jelly Donut puts
in their earbuds.

Angry Jelly Donut does
not listen to the podcast. They listen to music instead.

Happy Vanilla Cupcake
gets on the bus.

Angry Jelly Donut
decides to wait for the next one and stays at
the curb.

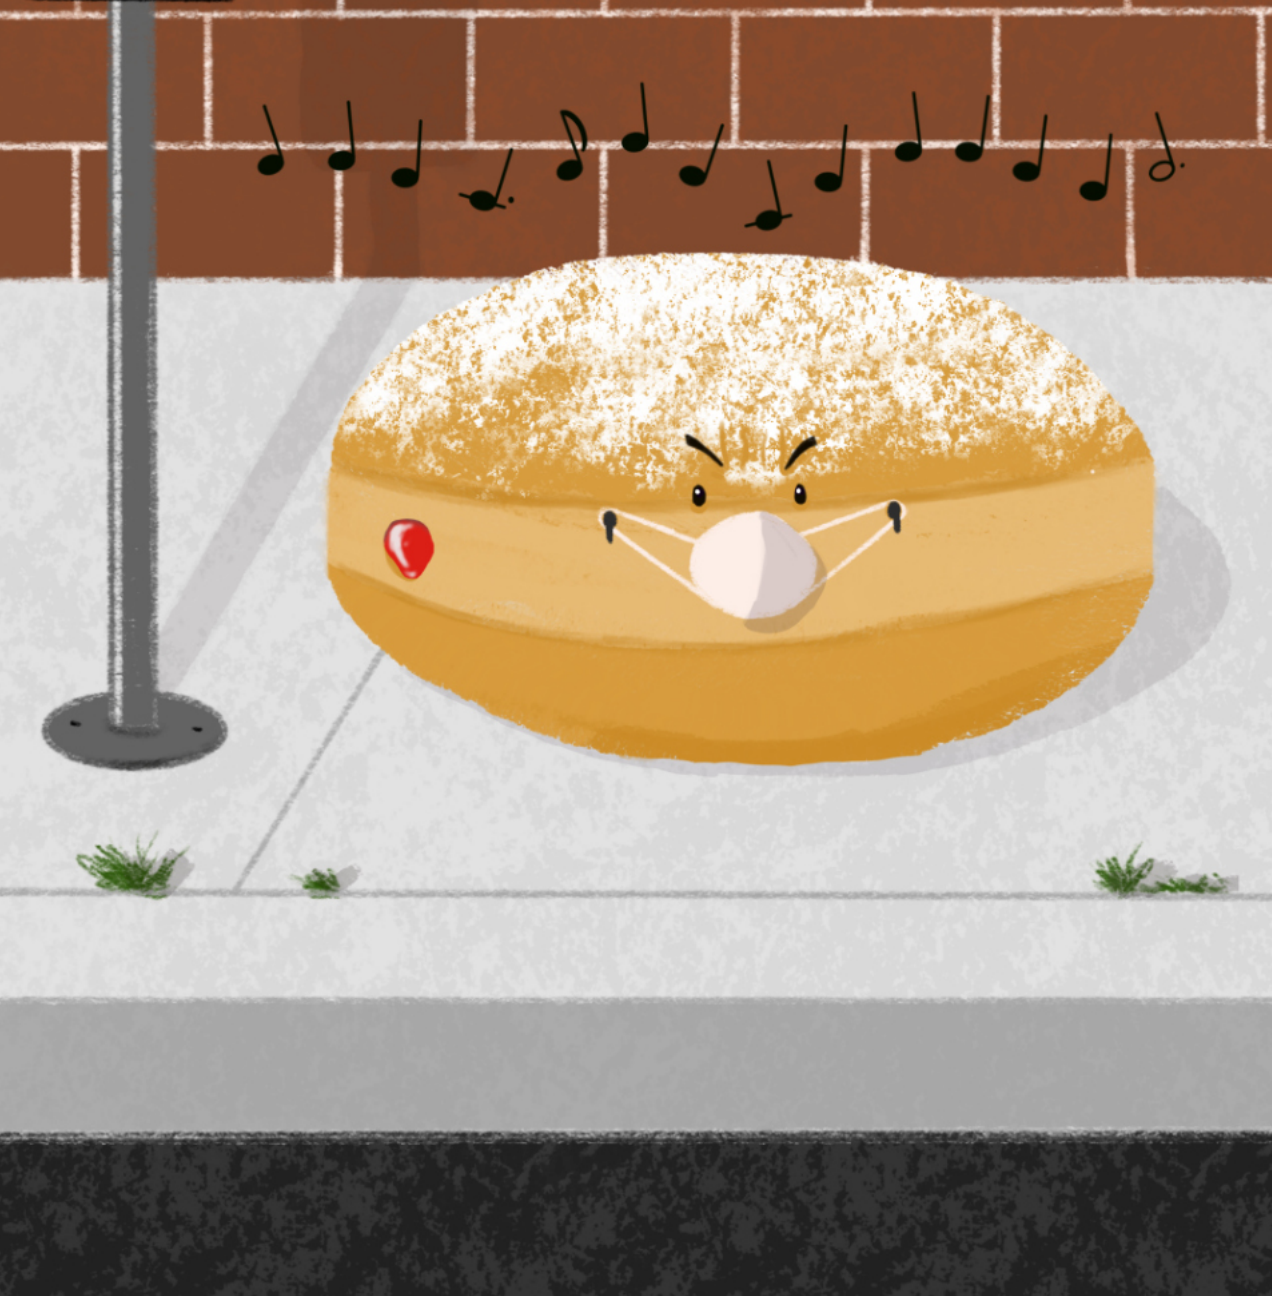

Angry Jelly Donut
listens to music.

They used to like this song. Now they do not.

They still listen to it.
